Micro-F 4113, the Gerritsen Collection contains an international collection of women’s historical primary material covering 1543 to post WWII focuses on the evolution of feminist consciousness and the women’s rights movement offers different perspectives on the women’s movement, original works and rebuttals, as well as pro and anti-feminist views including works by women and men includes materials in many languages: English, French, Dutch, Spanish, and Latin supports research in many disciplines: history, education, political science, literature, business and economics, women’s studies, and languages